YOUTH STRUCK DOWN WHILE IN SAFETY ZONE

Driver Of Death Car Claims Accident To Have Been Unavoidable

A family of three were mowed down by an automobile driven by Charles Dickinson, 34, of 426 North Parkview avenue, Daly City, Sunday of this week, as they stood in a safety zone at Twenty-fifth and Potrero avenue in San Francisco.

John Zoerb, 37, and his two children Lorraine, 12, and Robert, 10, were waiting for a street car in the zone to take them to their home at 1386 San Bruno avenue—when they were struck down. The son, Robert, died a short time after the removal of the three to the Mission Emergency Hospital. The father sustained multiple cuts and bruises and Lorraine was seriously but not fatally injured.

Dickinson was arrested and charged with driving while drunk, and later it was made negligent homicide, when his youthful victim died.

Robert Zoerb was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis, formerly of Winchester street here.

Dickinson denied the drunk driving charge and claims, it is asserted by police, that he was forced into the zone by a passing truck which crowded into his car.

Junk Man Picks Up Discarded Sweaters

The wireless operator on the Crocker Hills notified the local police, Monday morning of this week, that children hiking in that vicinity had taken off their sweaters and left them on the ground and when they returned the sweaters were gone. It was reported a man had taken the articles away in a sack. A witness reported to the wireless operator, who in turn informed the police about 11 o'clock the same morning.

Chief Reardon responded to the call and, after patrolling the district for some time, found Frank Rose, a junk dealer of Visitation Valley, with some of the sweaters in his possession.

Some of the apparel had been returned to the children on payment of 10 cents each.

The sweaters and the money were all returned on the orders of the chief.

SCHOOL PUPILS PARTICIPATE IN COUNTY FIESTA

Elementary Grades Enter Several Exhibits In Floral And Products Show

The pupils of the Jefferson School District participated whole heartedly in the San Mateo County Floral Fiesta by entering a replica of an old Spanish garden, which they called "La Casa Teresita."

The elementary grades throughout the district, under the direction of Mrs. Corral, art supervisor, and Miss Tobias, principal of Woodrow Wilson Elementary, planned, constructed and contributed the plants and art work typical to that used in gardens of this type. The unique background—the silhouette of an old adobe mission added much to the setting as did the adobe fountain which was so characteristic of the early California era.

Woodrow Wilson Elementary School further entered into the spirit of the Fiesta by exhibiting some of the art work done in its school under the direction of the art supervisor, Mrs. Corral.

Two fire alarms rent the air, Monday of this week. The first was from box 11, located in the Hillcrest drive section between Santa Barbara and Santa Cruz avenues, at 7:20 p. m. and proved to be a false alarm. The other, at about 11:50 o'clock, was from box 31. An automobile was ablaze in the basement garage of Sidney Rankin of 215 Willets street. Rankin pushed the flaming car into the street in front of his home, where firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. The cause

DALY CITY GIRL SCOUTS REACH RECORD GROWTH

Membership Of Troop Has Now Arrived At Full Strength

Learning, through observation and nature study, to better enjoy the world we live in, a group of Girl Scouts from the Oak and Beaver Patrols of Daly City Troop No. 2 spent an instructive and pleasurable afternoon hiking to Lake Merced under the guidance of their captain, Mrs. Aldyth Fox, Saturday of last week. Supper was enjoyed by the group in the open before turning their footsteps toward home.

Growing by leaps and bounds, Troop No. 2 has, counting its new candidates for membership, reached full capacity for a Girl Scout troop. The rapid growth of this Girl Scout organization in our city is certain proof to the citizens of Daly City that there had been a definite need for such an organization in the past, which had not been fulfilled.

Agricultural Section Said To Surpass All Previous Ef- forts At Exhibition

With Ruth Lindorff, pretty Daly City girl, in the ranks of official hostesses, the San Mateo County Products and Floral Fiesta opened yesterday at Bay Meadows. The event will continue through Sunday.

In a state-wide radio program, last Sunday morning, her clear voice carried to thousands of listeners the best word picture of the floral event yet given to the public. To the minutest detail, including excellent mention of the Colma vegetable growers displays, Miss Lindorff explained the Fiesta setup and urged attendance.

Highlight of the exhibition is the pageant, this year a Spanish theme, "The Song of Don Largo." Produced by Fanchon and Marco, the affair is based on the novel by Stewart Ed-

PRESS FREEDOM EXTOLLED BY NOTED DOCTOR

U. C. Professor Criticizes Newspaper Censorship Of European Countries

Only the American citizen who has spent a few weeks or months abroad and has been forced to rely on the rigidly censored, propaganda-laden newspapers of the European countries for news can fully appreciate the freedom of the American press.

This is the statement of Dr. Jean Pajus, University of California division instructor who recently returned from the University of Dijon in France, where he was awarded a doctor's degree in political science. Dr. Pajus will lecture on World Affairs for the extension division beginning, Wednesday of next week.

"Most European newspapers do not stop at mere suppression of information," Dr. Pajus said. "They disseminate falsehoods. They tell their readers that all Americans with any money at all have to employ from one to ten bodyguards to protect them. The newspapers of all dictator-ridden countries are equally bad."

"The worst newspaper in America, is a more reliable source of information than nine tenths of the controlled, dictator-ridden newspapers of Europe," Dr. Pajus concluded.

Speech Is Caught But Never Taught

Good speech, though dependent upon special skills, is "taught by contagion rather than by drill techniques," Dr. Elizabeth D. McDowell, associate professor of speech at Teachers College, Columbia University, reported, following a survey of speech habits, according to the New York Sun.

In Professor McDowell's judgment the teacher of the very young child is chiefly responsible for the development of skill and poise in speaking. "Speech proficiency, although dependent upon special skill, is taught by contagion rather than by 'drill' techniques," Professor McDowell declared.

"We cannot teach anybody anything; the best we can do is to set up situations in which he can learn," she explained. "Situations providing favorable conditions for acquiring the mastery of the social, semantic and phonetic skills, upon which speech proficiency depends, make up much of the child's program during the school day."

"Seldom is it necessary to introduce special speech activities, particularly when one is trying to emphasize the social and the language aspects of good speech behavior. Courtesy, social responsiveness, pertinent ideas and active co-operation are essential ingredients of all communicative activity."

Those who are deficient in the language skills are often described as "dull, ineffectual or scatterbrained," she warned.

Speech is an index of your point of view, Professor McDowell added. She said that persons who are tolerant and sympathetic make the best speakers. Shyness in speech, self-consciousness, indifference, aggressiveness, conceit or exhibitionism are "antisocial manifestations" she declared.

Members Hear Arthur Nobbs Discuss Traffic Dangers And Safety Measures

Members of the Seventeenth District, Parent Teachers Association, heard Arthur Nobbs, chairman of the San Mateo Traffic Commission, discuss the gravity of the county traffic situation when the organization held its first monthly meeting at Burlingame High School, Friday of last week.

In charge of program arrangements was Mrs. Frank J. Steele, director of the public welfare department.

Nobbs was guest speaker at the afternoon session. He cited numerous agencies which have united in a common cause to do away with traffic dangers and emphasized the fact that a constructive public attitude and consistent enforcement of the automobile code would do much to eliminate highway and street hazards.

The importance of father as well as mother participation in the training of young people was stressed at the session by W. T. Van Voris, principal of Burlingame High School and state chairman of Fathers Forums, Congress of Parent Teachers.

Miss Jephtha Wade, chairman of the Fiesta Committee, reported that a booth, representing the local P. T. A. group, would be placed in the grandstand at Bay Meadows, the site of the exhibition.

Pansy Jewett Abbott, county superintendent of schools, announced that a parade and entertainment would be given in honor of the Junior Safety Traffic Patrol, October 6. She urged all P. T. A. members to support the function.

President of the United States under its terms."

Mr. Sweigert stated that Benjamin Franklin's prophecy that the country would progress rapidly has been in a large part fulfilled. The Constitution has given a larger measure of liberty and justice to its people than ever enjoyed by any people of any nation under the sun. This is due to the ever increasing devotion to the Constitution by the people of the United States and to the flag which has meant so much to men in the past and will mean so much to them in the future.

As a fitting climax, the speaker exclaimed: "The Constitution is more than a mere paper document; the flag is more than a mere piece of cloth! My plea to you today is to study the Constitution, to understand its history, to know its purpose; and when you go forth from this school into life you will do so with the understanding that whatever difficulties affect our nation and our cause as long as we retain our Constitution we will be able to find the solution and preserve liberty and youth, now and forever!"

Everyone was greatly impressed by the splendid address delivered by Mr. Sweigert, which was shown by the attention given him during his address.

Mrs. Alice Riley and Mrs. Mary Crane, of the American Legion Auxiliary, were special guests and were introduced by Mr. Clive M. Sair, of the history department, who was in charge of the assembly and presented the speaker.

PARTY OF PRESIDENT APPEALS TO WORKERS

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Agitation for the forming of a third party to take part in the presidential election in 1940 has been given a setback by the changing of opinion of some of the organizations formerly in favor of the movement. A publication called Common Sense for some time advocated a Farmer-Labor party. Recently it withdrew from the field in declaring it favored standing by the Democratic organization headed by President Roosevelt. In explanation the paper says:

"The Democratic party has been gradually becoming all that the third party forces, the Farmer-Laborites and the progressives, could hope for—and their increasingly close identification with it indicates that they know its real significance.

"It can assure labor far more than labor could hope for in a party of its own. If it marches in closed ranks with these natural allies the danger of a fascist movement arising will remain remote.

"The more the progressive and labor forces work in the Democratic organization the more its direction will be set definitely to the left."

The people are not forgetting that certain groups in "big business" are in no way relaxing their animosity toward the President. In a recent book called "Middletown in Transition," a sequel to "Middletown," published eight years ago, the authors, Robert S. Lynd and Helen Merrell Lynd, point out that the weight of frightened hope with which the city's leading business men backed Landon to defeat Roosevelt was almost literally beyond exaggeration. They see in President Roosevelt all that they are against, the personified denial of all their wants and of all the virtues of the pioneer tradition.

"Middletown" is really Muncie, Indiana, and is supposed to be typically American.

The depression hit the town very hard, but it seems to have made little change in the spirit found in the town in good times. One revealing part of the study is as follows:

"Middletown's working class shares with the employers the prevailing philosophy of individual competence. Working in an open-shop city, with its public opinion set by the business class, and fascinated by a rising standard of living offered them on every hand on the installment plan, they do not readily segregate themselves from the rest of the city.

"The working class wants what Middletown wants, so long as it gives them their great symbol of advancement—an automobile. Car ownership stands for them for a large share of the 'American Dream.' It was not unusual for a family to drive up to the relief commissary in 1935 to be in line for its four or five dollar weekly food dole."

In his Roanoke speech President Roosevelt said:

"I seek no change in the form of American government. Majority rule must be preserved."

As has been by fair students of American conditions, the statement is the shortest and clearest assertion concerning his allegiance to democracy the President has made.

It is a complete answer to the unjust charges hurled by narrow-minded enemies that the chief executive is aiming at a dictatorship.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

"For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, September 26, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Reality." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "For what man knoweth the things of a man save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (I Cor. 2: 11, 12).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Spiritual sense, contradicting the material senses, involves intuition, hope, faith, understanding, fruition, reality. . . . Life, Truth, and Love are the realities of divine Science. They dawn in faith and glow fullorbed in spiritual understanding" (p. 298).

TWO OF A KIND

The automobile was a thing unheard of to a mountaineer in an unfrequented community, and he was astonished one day when he saw one go by without any visible means of locomotion. His eyes bulged, however, when a motorcycle followed closely in its wake and disappeared like a flash around a bend, in the road.

"Great guns!" he said, turning to his son. "Who'd 'a' s'posed that thing had a colt?"

A plane leaving Mills Field, Monday evening of this week, was delayed a short time before it could take off, when attendants scuffled with Henry Clay, 38, a Reno merchant.

Clay started the ruckus by striking one of the field attendants. He was booked at the South San Francisco jail for disturbing the peace and battery, later obtaining his liberty on $100 bail.

Popular Program To Be Continued

So successful has been the engagement of the Federal Theaters dance unit at the Alcazar during the past week that its engagement, which was to have closed Sunday night, has been extended to run until tomorrow. The troupe comes from the Los Angeles Federal Theater Project and is headed by Myra Kinch, internationally known danseuse and state director of Federal Theaters Dance Units. There are approximately thirty dancers in the unit and the program is presented in three parts.

Owing to the change of schedule, Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" will open at the Alcazar Theater, Tuesday, and not tomorrow as previously announced.

Turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas will bring a higher price in the market because there will be considerably fewer of the delectable birds this year, according to a prediction made in San Diego, Monday of this week, by R. M. Sexauer, manager of the San Diego Co-operative Poultry Association.

Sexauer said there had been a reduction of nearly 20 per cent in the turkey supply over that of a year ago.

OBSERVATION OF IN OUR CAPITAL VARIOUS THINGS

One Hundred And Fifty-Eighth Anniversary of Our First Naval Victory Is Celebrated

(By Hart Goodrich)

While the capital is in the anniversary mood, your correspondent would like to celebrate, too, in this week's article the one hundred and fifty-eighth anniversary of that famous naval battle between John Paul Jones' decrepit and undermanned "Bon Homme Richard" and Captain Pearson's new and powerful man of war the "Serapis." Last night a realistic re-enactment of the thrilling fight was staged on the Potomac River near the Lincoln Memorial. It was the highlight in the spectacular water pageant presented in connection with the President's Cup Regatta this week.

There are few historic incidents which should give us more of a thrill than the display of Yankee courage and resourcefulness shown in this bitterly contested battle.

Hard put for a ship in 1779, Jones appealed to Benjamin Franklin, who arranged for the transfer to Jones of a condemned East India merchantman, which was converted into a frigate of 40 guns and renamed the "Bon Homme Richard" in honor of "Poor Richard" Franklin.

The English "Serapis" could fire a broadside of 300 pounds of shot at one time, as compared to the Richard's 258 pounds, besides being a much easier vessel to maneuver.

In the first burst of firing when the two vessels were within range two of the Richard's heaviest guns exploded, causing much damage and reducing its broadside from 258 to 222 pounds. Jones, however, took the offensive in the battle and maneuvered his clumsy vessel so that his men were in a position to board the "Serapis."

A member of the crew, dazed and frightened, ran to the flagstaff to haul down the colors, shouting incoherently for quarter. Jones promptly hurled a pistol at the crazed man's head, knocking him down.

Captain Pearson, on the "Serapis," hearing the man's cries, called out: "Have you struck?"

Jones' response, "I've not yet begun to fight," has gone down in history.

After hand to hand fighting between the crews, and the firing of the heavy guns at close range, the American ship was in even worse condition than the now crippled "Serapis." However, Pearson was not aware of the precarious condition of the Richard and ordered the British colors hauled down.

Jones took command of the "Serapis" and placed Dale, his lieutenant, in charge of the Richard, which sank the next day.

John Paul Jones' great victory shook the morale of the British and won him the acclaim not only of the Americans, but of the French—cementing Franco-American relations. He died in 1792, and was buried in Paris with French governmental honors.

Since 1905, however, his body has rested at the Naval Academy in Annapolis—an inspiration to every midshipman attending that institution.

YMCA Plans Annual Drive For Funds

Marking the fourteenth year of activity in peninsula communities, the Young Men's Christian Association prepared for the opening of its annual financial drive in a meeting, Monday of this week.

Owen of Redwood City a campaign organization is being formed in Burlingame, San Mateo and Redwood City.

The program will close with the President's dinner dance.

The majority of the major veteran groups and others are co-operating in the plans for the entertainment of the visiting Ninety-first men and their families and will participate in the parades and other events of the convention.

Students Assisted In Observance By American Legion Auxiliary Members

Students and teachers throughout the Jefferson School District united to extol that immortal document—our Constitution of the United States—in memory of that day, one hundred and fifty years ago, when a group of men inscribed their signatures to a set of rules beginning "We the People, etc." In various schools the prime motive of the program as stressed by students, who took entire charge, was to trace the document's history and development in its never failing effort to further the cause of Democracy.

Present at every school to further emphasize the importance of the occasion were members of the American Legion Auxiliary. Woodrow Wilson Elementary and Primary Schools were honored by Mrs. Riley, president of the unit, and Mrs. Trier; Pershing by Mrs. Glandville; Jefferson by Mrs. Hill; and Thornton by Mrs. Crane.

Insurance Companies To Be Consolidated

Negotiations are being completed whereby the Occidental Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles will acquire the assets and business of the Guaranty Life Insurance Company of Davenport, Iowa, a sixty-million dollar company, according to an announcement today by L. M. Giannini, president of the California company.

Occidental Life is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation. The Guaranty Life, which was founded 34 years ago, has admitted assets of $10,963,000 and more than $60,000,000 of life insurance in force. According to Giannini, as soon as legal formalities have been complied with, this business will be consolidated with Occidental Life. The California company then will have admitted assets in excess of $51,000,000 and more than $375,000,000 of life insurance in force.

Lee J. Dougherty, president of Guaranty Life, becomes a director and vice president of Occidental Life and will supervise the company's business and expansion program in the Middle West. Dwight L. Clarke, executive vice president, represented the Occidental Life Insurance Company in the negotiations.

States Penalized For Diverting Tax

Federal highway grants to Maryland, Georgia and New Jersey have been reduced by a total of almost $4,000,000 for this year because those states diverted to non-highway uses the gasoline tax and other taxes paid by motorists, reports the California State Automobile Association. The penalties were in accordance with an act of Congress providing for reductions in allotments to states which divert highway funds.

A number of San Mateo County members of Islam Temple of the Shrine were on board today, Friday, when the Shrine special train left Third and Townsend streets, San Francisco, for a three week's good will pilgrimage to Mexico City. The Shrine band, sirens and cheers were on hand to give the travelers a fine send off. A luncheon at the Palace hotel Thursday night was a fete to the pilgrims.

Could Have Been Worse

A man was standing disconsolately in the depot of an Ozark village. On being asked by the station agent why he looked so forlorn, he replied: "Why, I've just missed that train by only half a minute!"

"Oh, is that all?" said the agent.

"Why, to look at ye, a body'd think ye'd missed it by at least half an hour!"

ST. SIMON BLOOD DUE FOR REVIVAL HERE

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Australia is doing well in keeping the St. Simon line going. England has fallen far behind in maintaining what was a few years ago as prominent a strain as that of Isonomy, Ben d'Or, Hampton and other great thoroughbred groups. This country has a few progenitors that trace in tail male to the unbeaten horse, but it is not going nearly as strong as several decades ago, when it was thought Prince Palatine and Negofol might revolutionize breeding in the United States.

There is a son of Negofol over at Heather Farm that has a chance of doing better than ordinary things as a sire. Well bred mares are being sent to the court of Xenofol and hopes are held by experts on blood lines that one of the male progeny may turn out to be a real good performer on the course and later a worth-while progenitor.

Of all the bands of yearlings that have been broken in at Heather Farm this year's looks much the best. And quite a number have Xenofol as sire. Bone, substance, conformation and every other factor entering into the makeup of a high class thoroughbred are possessed by the Xenofols.

The balance of the even dozen of youngsters being given their primary education as racers are by the established stallions, imported War Cry and King Heather. Hardly a day goes by that a Heather Farm product does not earn brackets at one of the big tracks of the country. As is well known, they mature early and are remarkably durable.

Xenofol was sold for $40,000 as a yearling. The well proportioned son of Negofol and Xenita did not start as a two year old. As a three year old he was good enough to be second to Gallant Fox, finishing in front of highly regarded ones. After winning on the Metropolitan circuit he was retired on account of a physical setback.

The stallion is ten years of age, which is considered to be the time of life when a sire is reaching the height of his powers. There was never any better strain than that of St. Simon and Xenofol is not only a great-grandson of the Galopin horse on the top line, but is from a matron that is by a grandson of St. Simon. Inbreeding, yes, but of the correct kind.

Pupil Address At Jefferson School

Exercises for the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the framing of the Constitution were held at the Jefferson Elementary School, Friday afternoon of last week.

Following the singing of the National Anthem, an interesting address was delivered by Mrs. Grace Hill, a representative of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Barbara Wilmoth, an eighth grade student at the school, gave the following talk, composed by herself, on the subject of "Our Constitution."

"One hundred and fifty years ago today, in 1787 to be exact, many of the great men of the United States met in Philadelphia to decide the problem of forming a constitution for the American people.

"James Madison was there. Seated at the oaken desk, pen in hand, was George Washington. The slight, fair figure of handsome Alexander Hamilton, bedecked quaintly in satin knee breeches and gold buckled slippers, could be seen in earnest conversation with Thomas Jefferson and the great orator Patrick Henry. Yes, they were all there, these 'Men of the Hour,' there with the fate of American posterity balanced on their fingertips. The war was over now; they must look to the future. A constitution—a supreme law—must be formed.

"Today, we live in a land of 'milk and honey' of prosperity; we live under a government perfect in almost every detail, so it stands to reason that that meeting of our patriotic ancestors was a success.

"James Madison, outstanding member of the government, has been titled 'Father of the Constitution.' He had dedicated his life time to the cause of American betterment. With more than fifty other patriotic men he spent four grilling months in sessions of three weeks constructing a constitution suitable for both the wealthy and poverty stricken American citizens. Madison's foresight prompted him to take notes on how the convention was conducted. These notes have furnished the color and background from which many a story concerning the Constitution convention has sprung.

"George Washington, probably the most famous of those who attended that conference, was chairman of the meeting. His tactful manner of speaking prevented many a word battle from developing into a battle of fisticuffs.

"Several bills were presented by the delegates from Virginia and by the ones from New York. Compromises were agreed upon concerning these bills before our Constitution was really completed.

"On this day we should bow our heads in gratitude to those men who gave us a 'more perfect Union.'"

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ricconi and son George of San Pedro road motored to Mill Valley, Sunday of this week, where they were the guests of friends.

Cypress Circle No. 14, U. A. O. D., held its regular business meeting, Wednesday evening of this week, at Colombo Hall. Report was made on the returns of the Monster whist party held, Saturday evening of last week. Routine business was discussed and announcement made of the official visit which will be held, Wednesday evening, October 27.

Invitations have been received by friends announcing the wedding of Miss Teresa Fontana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Fontana of Station avenue, and Mr. Jerome Manini which will take place, Saturday evening of next week, at Saint Peter and Paul's Church on Filbert street, San Francisco. Ambition To Win First Night Game In Large Stadium Is Thwarted

Last Friday night one of San Francisco's best baseball parks was turned into a gridiron for the battle between the Jefferson Indians and Washington. This being Jefferson's first night game played in the city's great stadium, the Indians put forth all their energy in an effort to put over victory, but in this ambition they failed.

Although eleven men played the game, the real battle stood between two flatfooted men, Wilson of Jefferson and Legget of Washington. These two boys kept the game going back and forth with practically no action, although Legget seemed to be winning this private contest. The Indians were constantly driven back to their own goal by Legget's foot clashes.

Near to the closing moments of the game, the Indians were forced to kick. Wilson's quick kick was blocked by the Eagles. The pigskin rolled back over the Jefferson goal line, where it was recovered by a Washington man who scored the one touchdown that meant victory for the Eagles.

The final moments of the game went scoreless, with the Eagles emerging the final victors with a score of 6-0.

Final scrimmage sessions were scheduled for the College of the Pacific varsity football team, early this week, as Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg began his last preparations for the Bengal gridiron opener with the University of Southern California tomorrow, Saturday.

Desire to play in the U. S. C. game runs high on the Tiger varsity, and substitutes are pushing veterans for first string consideration.

DALY CITY TO HAVE IRON LUNG

Villa Hospital Seals Offered Citizens In Effort To Make Acquisition Possible

Citizens of Daly City and surrounding communities will be comforted and proud to learn of its home hospital having a respirator.

Accidents and emergencies do not come by appointment. A hospital staff can never know when it may receive a case of gas poisoning, carbon monoxide asphyxia, electric shock, "polio" with respiratory paralysis, or any one of several other conditions requiring prompt and effective artificial respiration.

Many hospitals now realize how embarrassing it is, if caught with a case requiring respirator treatment, when no respirator is available. More and more hospitals, realizing this, have had the foresight to secure a respirator before an emergency arises.

One respirator, the Drinker, has made history in the field of artificial respiration. It is credited with having saved many lives that would otherwise have been despaired of. It is recommended by both the American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons.

Credit for the crystallization of the idea to obtain this iron lung is due to the progressiveness and foresight of Joseph Sarto, superintendent of the Villa Hospital, Dr. William C. Lynch and several civic minded bodies.
